PALACE: MILITARY READY TO STOP coup d'etat

MANILA (Feb. 13) - Malacañang said Thursday that the Armed Forces of the Philippines (AFP) is prepared to stop a possible uprising among its ranks amid the public outrage against the government over the deadly Mamasapano incident.

"Lahat ng mga banta laban sa estado ay tinututukan at ganap ang kahandaan ng ating sandatahang lakas laban sa mga bantang iyan," Presidential Communications Operations Office Herminio Coloma Jr. said in a press briefing.

"Katungkulan ng sandatahang lakas na pigilan at puskain ang lahat ng kalaban ng estado at ginagampanan nila ang tungkuling ito sa lahat ng pagkakataon," he added.

Coloma made the same statement when asked if the government needs to conduct a loyalty check among its soldiers.

The Palace official clarified that he is not confirming if there is indeed a brewing plot to overthrow the Aquino government through military force.

The supposed plot was bared by Sen. Miriam Defensor Santiago at the resumption of the Senate inquiry into the January 25 Mamasapano incident on Thursday.

Santiago said she received an intelligence report that certain groups financed by a "very rich man" are in talks of a coup d'etat.

Defense Secretary Voltaire Gazmin told Santiago at the hearing that they are still verifying similar reports that they have received.

The coup rumors have floated while the Aquino government remains under fire due to its botched operation against terrorists Zulkifli Bin Hir, alias Marwan, and Filipino Basit Usman.

After 44 police commandos were killed in the operation, various sectors had demanded accountability from Aquino and resigned Philippine National Police chief Alan Purisima, who allegedly orchestrated the botched operation even if he was then suspended over corruption allegations.

The Chief Executive is no stranger to coup d'etat since the administration of his mother, the late President Corazon Aquino, survived several attempts of military uprising. -Philstar

Overkill leaves generals in tears

MANILA (Feb. 13) - It was too much for acting Philippine National Police chief Deputy Director General Leonardo Espina to describe before lawmakers the brutal killing of 44 Special Action Force (SAF) commandos.

Espina broke down as he described how the 44 policemen were killed and finished off by Muslim rebels in a cornfield in Mamasapano on Jan. 25.

Espina's emotional outburst was apparently triggered by answers given by Presidential Adviser on the Peace Process Teresita Deles, who spoke about the need to coordinate military and police operations with the Moro Islamic Liberation Front (MILF) with whom the government has a cease-fire agreement in the ongoing peace process.

Espina sought "clear answers from the other party of the peace process (MILF)" on why the SAF policemen - some of them wounded but still alive - were finished off by the rebels with point-blank shots to the head.

Espina, testifying at the inquiry of the House of Representatives yesterday, described the incident as "overkill."

"What is this overkill that you did to our men? They already saw they were wounded SAF, even we did not coordinate (with the MILF), the ones you shot are the ones

Palace: No cover-up on Mamasapano incident

MANILA (Feb. 13)- Malacanang denied on Thursday that the administration is trying to conceal certain information regarding the counter-terrorism operation in Mamasapano, Maguindanao that killed 44 members of the Philippine National Police Special Action Force (PNP-SAF).

In a press briefing, Presidential Communications Operations Office Secretary Herminio Coloma Jr. explained that it may just not be appropriate to give commentary on certain questions until the various probes on the Mamasapano incident are completed.

Coloma appealed to the public and the media not to make "premature and unwarranted conclusions" before the investigations uncover the whole truth behind the botched police operation.

"Wala tayong ginagawa ritong pag-iwas o hindi pagharap sa mga tanong. Pero baka naman mas mainam nga na ilagay natin ang lahat ng mga 'yan sa konteksto ng isang ongoing inquiry pa na kung saan nga ay wala pa namang nagiging ganap na kongklusyon o findings mismo 'yung mga nagsisiyasat," Coloma said.

"Lahat naman ay ginawa doon pa rin sa pagtalima natin sa mga prinsipyo ng transparency and accountability. Wala naman tayong pagnanasa rito na magkubli o magtago ng ano mang mahalagang impormasyon," he added.

Coloma made these statements after security officials failed to answer a question in today's Senate hearing, fueling speculations that they were trying to hide something.

Interior and Local Government Secretary Manuel Roxas II, Defense Secretary Voltaire Gazmin and Armed Forces of the Philippines chief of staff Gregorio Pio Catapang Jr. cannot say who informed Aquino that there was an ongoing encounter between the SAF troopers and combatants from the Moro Islamic Liberation Front and the Bangsamoro Islamic Freedom Fighters in Mamasapano.

The three executives flew to Zamboanga City with Aquino at the height of the firefight and inspected the site of a bomb explosion that killed two people and injured nearly 50 people.

Resigned PNP chief Alan Purisima was also asked at the Senate hearing if he informed Aquino regarding the then developing Mamasapano encounter. But instead of giving an answer, he asked Sen. Grace Poe for time to seek clearance from the President to respond.

Coloma maintained that Aquino was in Zamboanga City primarily to assess the security situation following the blast.

Coloma also said that Aquino has stated everything that he needs to share to the public regarding the Mamasapano encounter.

"Lahat naman ng kanyang nalalaman at lahat ng sa kanyang pananaw ay dapat malaman ng mga mamamayan ay inihayag niya sa kanyang pagtatalumpati sa ating mga kababayan at ito ay itinuturing niya na mahalaga para maunawaan ng mga mamamayan ang kahulugan ng mga nangyaring 'yan," Coloma said. -Philstar

Miriam blasts Purisima: Kung di ka nakisali, baka buhay pa sila

MANILA (Feb. 13)- Senator Miriam Defensor-Santiago on Thursday questioned resigned Philippine National Police (PNP) chief Alan Purisima for giving an “advice” to PNP Officer-in-Charge Leonardo Espina on the Mamasapano operation despite being on preventive suspension.

During the third day of the Senate inquiry on the Mamasapano incident, Santiago noted that according to the law dictionary, suspended officials are temporarily deprived of their powers and privileges.

“You’re under preventive suspension and yet you were still dipping your finger in the pie. You were participating at none of your business at that time,” Santiago told Purisima.

Purisima reiterated that he did not give out an order for the operation but rather an advice.

“Don’t quibble with me... ‘I only advised, I did not order.’ Really? Buti sana kung wala akong doctorate o hindi ako nag-graduate sa UP. Malas natin I did both,” Santiago said.

Santiago added that Purisima should have stayed quiet during the duration of his preventive suspension and should not have meddled with Oplan Exodus or the Mamasapano operation.

“Kung hindi ka sana nakisali doon baka buhay pa sila,” Santiago blamed Purisima for the death of 44 PNP Special Action Force commandos. -Philstar

Foreign direct investments surge 62% to $5.72B

MANILA (Feb. 13) - Foreign direct investments surged 62 percent in the first 11 months of 2014, reflecting strong investor confidence in the economy, the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas reported yesterday.

The Philippines registered a net inflow of $5.72 billion in FDIs from January to November last year, higher than the $3.539 billion recorded in the same period in 2013.

"This reflected investors' confidence in the Philippine economy on the back of sound macroeconomic fundamentals and strong growth prospects," the central bank said.

The economy grew by 6.1 percent last year, slower than the 7.2-percent growth in 2013. This was short of the government's 6.5- to 7.5-percent target but still the second fastest in Asia during the period.

For this year and the next, the government hopes to grow the economy by seven to eight percent.

During the 11-month period, placements in debt instruments or loans made by local units from their parent firms accounted for the bulk of the FDIs at $3.403 billion as of November, a 46-percent increase from $2.33 billion in the same period in 2013.

The central bank said this was supported the local units' existing operations and expansion of businesses in the country.

Equity capital or fresh investments made by foreign companies in their Philippine subsidiaries and affiliates also ballooned 115 percent to $1.554 billion from $723 million, the BSP said.

These funds came mainly from the United States, Hong Kong, Singapore, Japan, and Australia, and went into the financial and insurance sector, manufacturing, real estate, wholesale and retail trade, and transportation and storage activities.

At the same time, reinvested earnings climbed 57 percent to $763 million as of November from $486 million in the same period a year prior, the BSP said.

For November alone, FDIs amounted to $399 million, 34 percent more than the $297 million recorded in the same month in 2013. -Philstar you're also talking to (in the peace process)," Espina told the joint inquiry of the House committees on peace and order, and peace, reconciliation and national unity.

"These are terrorists, criminals. They've killed many people with their bombs and you're asking if the operation was legal?" he said. "I seek answers for my people so that when my time comes and I have to face them, at least I can say something," he added.

Espina maintained the operation to arrest Malaysian bomber Zulkifli bin Hir, alias Marwan, and Filipino terror suspect Basit Usman was legitimate and covered by the various ceasefire mechanisms with the MILF.

He said he could not sleep on Tuesday night after reading the report from the PNP medico-legal office showing at least 20 of the 44 were finished off with shots to the head.

He cited the case of Inspectors Rennie Tayrus and Ryan Pabalinas who were both hit in the foot but autopsy showed they were shot in the head with a 9 mm pistol.

He said the report also indicated that some of the SAF policemen were executed after their bulletproof vests were removed.

"They (SAF members) were not allowed to go home to their families even if they (gunmen) saw they were from the government," Espina said.

Before lawmakers, Espina reiterated the PNP is fully committed to peace and does not want war to erupt again in Mindanao.

Relieved SAF commander Director Getulio Napeñas, for his part, explained his role in the botched operation.

He approached Espina, hugged him and also cried.

Lawmakers applauded Espina for his statement even as the proceedings continued on a tumultuous track since morning.

'Viral video'

During the hearing, Zamboanga City Rep. Celso Lobregat and Cebu Rep. Gwendolyn Garcia called for the presentation of a six-minute video purportedly showing a wounded SAF operative being shot in the head by an unidentified gunman.

The video that went viral over social networking sites showed a wounded SAF operative lying on the ground squirming in pain while an unidentified gunman approached and shot him several times at close range. - Edu Punay, Christina Mendez, Alexis Romero, Cecille Suerte Felipe, Rainier Allan Ronda

Committee on public disorder

MEMBERS of several committees of the House of Representatives came prepared to preen for the cameras yesterday, but poorly prepared for the sensitive task they were undertaking. There seemed to be no rules for conducting the inquiry into the clashes on Jan. 25 in Mamasapano, Maguindanao, which left 44 police Special Action Force commandos dead.

Rudeness reigned throughout much of the session, between congressmen and their invited “resource persons” and among the congressmen themselves. Some of the lawmakers scolded rather than asked questions. Several congressmen hurled questions at the top of their voices. The absence of decorum was notable from start to finish, when the lawmakers heatedly argued over the proper moment to adjourn the session that seemed more like an inquisition rather than a hearing ostensibly to craft legislation.

Anyone who had watched the two days devoted by the Senate to ferret out what happened in Mamasapano could only be dismayed by the conduct of the parallel probe by the House committees spearheaded by the one on public order and safety. It was like watching a cheap rerun of the Senate inquiry. All that was missing was for the House members to come to blows, as in certain parliaments abroad.

The conduct of the House inquiry has raised concern over the capability of the lawmakers to handle sensitive security information that may be given in a forthcoming executive session. Some of those authorized to ask questions yesterday openly showed hostility to the government and particularly to members of the military and police, and appeared interested merely in promoting their causes on national television.

Coordination has become a buzzword in the ongoing probe of what happened in Mamasapano. It's a word that the House panel members themselves will find useful if they plan to continue their probe. A smidgen of courtesy will also help. -Philstar

Manufacturing industry provides quality jobs

“In talks that I have had over the years with numerous politicians from the Philippines, there is real interest in building a stronger relationship with Canada. Whether it is my Leader (who knows how much I care about the Philippines), my caucus or the majority of MPs in Ottawa, we know and understand that stronger relationships with countries like the Philippines is the best way to secure Canada's manufacturing potential into the future. That means jobs!”

LIBERAL LEADER Justin Trudeau listens as New Flyer Industry President Paul Soubry explains the company's growth and market expansion. Accompanying Mr. Trudeau is MP Kevin Lamoureux (Winnipeg North).

MP KEVIN LAMOUREUX

Straight up

(www.mpkevin.ca)

SINCE 2007/2008 to the present, Canada's manufacturing industry has taken a serious blow with estimates of over 300,000 jobs lost. With the federal election coming up later this year, I suspect that there will be a lot of talk about the future of this industry.

A few weeks ago I was contacted by my Leader's office and told that Justin Trudeau would be going to Winnipeg on February 11. I was asked if I could arrange for a tour of a plant. I chose New Flyer Industry because that company

You are loved with an everlasting love!

RELATED Happy Valentine's Day to all! When we think of Valentine's Day, our thoughts go towards “love”. When we think of “love”, we must think of the greatest love the world has ever known, the love of God.

The Apostle Paul made known his prayer for the Ephesian Christians—“that Christ may dwell in your hearts through faith; that you, being rooted and grounded in love, may be able to comprehend with all the saints what is the width and length and depth and height-- to know the love of Christ which passes knowledge; that you may be filled with all the fullness of God.”

(Ephesians 3:17-19)

God's love is deep! God's love has nothing to do with you! Others may love you because you are cute, cuddly and adorable. You are rich. You are fun to be around. You are family (and they have to love you). But, not God! God loves you

Why Sarah G WON'T CELEBRATE Valentine's Day with Matteo

MANILA - Singer-actress Sarah Geronimo won't be celebrating her second Valentine's Day with boyfriend, actor-triathlete Matteo Guidicelli.

"Wala naman pong plano kasi pareho kami yatang may trabaho sa Valentine's Day. May live (show) po for 'The Voice.' Wala, hindi kami magkasama sa Valentine's," she said on Thursday at the launch of her newest endorsement, San San Cosmetics. "Sa 13 ay may trabaho po. As in every day po halos ang trabaho, so singit-singit lang ng oras minsan."

Geronimo, who is quite private when it comes to discussing her love life, did share that she and the actor celebrated Valentine's last year -- although not on February 14 itself.

Asked if the actor has a Valentine's gift for her, Geronimo said: "Ang Valentine gift lang na importante ay pagmamahal at pag-iintindi."

In the interview, Geronimo also gamely shared that she and Guidicelli have mused about marriage.

"Siyempre napag-uusapan po, pero alam naman po naming pareho na madami kaming dapat ayusin sa sarili namin," she stressed.

Asked if she feels that Guidicelli is already the one for her, the actress said: "Masyadong maaga para diyan, madami pa kaming dapat pagdaanan"

Meanwhile, Geronimo announced that her movie with Piolo Pascual is on again, despite an earlier statement from the actor himself that it might not push through.

"Tuloy 'yung Piolo po," Geronimo said on Thursday, adding that they might start shooting the film after her stint on "The Voice of the Philippines" ends.

Geronimo also spoke on rumors that she might do a movie with Asian heartthrob Lee Min Ho.

"Hindi pa kami nag-uusap ni boss Vic (del Rosario of Viva) about it pero sana," she said. abs-cbnnews.com

Edu on Luis entering politics: My son is ready for anything

MANILA (Feb. 13) - Edu Manzano believes his son Luis Manzano is ready for politics in case the ABS-CBN TV host-actor decides to run for public office in 2016.

"My son is ready for anything," Edu told members of the press during the Wonderful World of Globe event recently.

There have been reports that Luis is eyeing politics. The "Deal or No Deal" host said in a previous interview: "'Sabi ko nga, one foot is in yes, one foot is in no. The question is which foot moves to the other side."

Edu, who served as Makati vice mayor in 1998 to 2001 and was head of the Optical Media Board from 2004 to 2009, said he allows his children "to do whatever they want to do."

However, he cautions: "Ang sina-sabi ko lang kasi, may kapalit yan. Kung ikaw magiging public servant, may kapalit."

The TV host-actor believes a showbiz personality who would enter politics should "take time out" from TV and movie work "to serve the people."

"It's a calling, e," he said.

Edu said he will support Luis "if he feels it's time to serve."

But he added, "But then again, hindi rin maganda na tatakbo ka sa posisyon ang makikita ka araw-araw na nasa telebisyon."

Meanwhile, Edu returns to acting as he is slated to be part of an upcoming ABS-CBN soap opera.

The veteran actor said he missed doing TV shows and movies. He had a part in the recently-released Star Cinema movie "Halik sa Hangin."

He's nervous and excited for his comeback for his first soap opera in several years. -Philstar

Derek on Angelica’s interview: Maybe she was misunderstood

MANILA — Derek Ramsay defended his ex-girlfriend, Angelica Panganiban, after her much talked-about statements in her recent guesting with John Prats in “Gandang Gabi Vice.”

In the February 8 episode of the show, Angelica was asked if she thinks she’s the reason why her current boyfriend, John Lloyd Cruz, and his ex-girlfriend, Shaina Magdayao, broke up.

The actress replied, “Feeling ko ... Sabi ko, in fairness ‘no, si Shaina, ano kaya nararamdaman? Best friend ko, tapos dyowa niya dati. Ako ang nagwagi.”

The “best friend” she was referring to was John Prats, who was also Shaina’s ex-boyfriend.

In an interview on Wednesday, Derek refused to react on the issue. Yet he answered when asked if he could recall whether Angelica was the type who would say such comments.

After a brief pause the Kapalit actor said, “I haven’t seen the video yet, so I want to see it first. But it is kind of shocking that she’d say those things.”

“I know Angel as she speaks ... she’s a very emotional person. So kapag may pinagdaanan, she’s very vocal. Sometimes she speaks from the heart, she doesn’t think about what she says,” Derek added.

He also raised the possibility that Angelica’s words were in jest. “She said things in a joking way, maybe she said things na she was misunderstood. Maybe she was so emotional and she let go of things she didn’t mean to say,” he said.

Meanwhile, Derek was asked about his birthday wish for Kris Aquino, one of his closest friends. Kris will celebrate her birthday on February 14, Saturday. One of the first things he wished is “less stress” for the embattled TV host.

“She is targeted by many now, I don’t know why. I don’t see the reason for that, but she’s handling it well.”

Many netizens lashed at Kris’ reaction to critics of her brother, President Benigno “Noynoy” Aquino III, in relation to the death of the 44 Philippine National Police Special Action Force members.

Derek also wished his good friend better health.

“Because she’s been in and out of the hospital, ‘di ba? Lagi kasi nagtatrabaho, walang tulong,” he said.

Derek hosts a new challenge show in TV5, “Extreme Series, Kaya Mo Ba ‘To?” where he takes different “extreme” challenges per episode. It airs Mondays to Fridays, 10:15 p.m. on TV5. -Philstar Lea Salonga: Anne Curtis still not a singer, but...

MANILA (Feb. 13) - "She's still not a singer." Thus said Lea Salonga when asked to comment about Anne Curtis' singing on social media.

The statement came out on Sunday, when one of the singer and "The Voice of the Philippines" coach's followers asked Lea to comment on Anne's performance on ABS-CBN's variety show "ASAP."

Anne, together with "The Voice" coach Bamboo and some "The Voice" finalists, performed the songs of Swedish DJ duo Icona Pop. "So much fun," the Broadway star answered.

Days later, another netizen asked Lea: "Or sure you would say that. But how about her singing?"

Lea answered: "She's still not a singer (which she admits openly)."

But she offered a bit of praise for Anne. "But her intonation is improving" she said on Twitter.

This isn't the first time Lea commented on Anne as a singer.

In an interview in 2012, the veteran singer was asked to comment on Anne and his first Araneta Coliseum concert. Lea said she finds Anne's Araneta Coliseum concert "cute" but she's "not sure if she should make a career out of singing." She said in the 2012 interview:

"But I think, in reality, I think she knows what she is, she knows who she is. I think she just basically let out a wish and somebody made it come true. I thought it was really cute." -Philstar

Top Kapuso acts shine in regional festivals in the Philippines

Philippines – GMA Network was recently at the heart of two of the Philippines' biggest regional festivals, the Sinulog Festival in Cebu and Dinagyang Festival in Iloilo.

Before trooping to the streets of downtown Cebu City to witness the annual Sinulog Festival revelry, thousands of Cebuano Kapuso fans congregated in three of the city's biggest malls to meet GMA's premier artists led by Regine Velasquez-Alcasid and lead stars of drama their supporters with a mesmerizing production number during a Kapuso Mall Show.

Moreover, Ang Lihim ni Annasandra's Mikael Daez delivered a live coverage on the Ati Tribe Competition for GMA TV Western Visayas, to amuse the Ilonggo audience.

Furthermore, the lead stars of the newest GMA soap Kailan Ba Tama Ang Mali?—Geoff Eigenmann, Empress Schuck, Dion Ignacio, and Max Collins—drew in their share of huge followers during a Kapuso Mall Show in the region.

Geoff, Empress, and Dion, meanwhile, proceeded to the Freedom Grandstand right after the mall show to take part in the Dinagyang Festival Awarding Ceremonies.

In endeavoring to be one at heart with its viewers, GMA Network continues to celebrate the many customs and traditions that make up a truly unique Pinoy culture.

series Healing Hearts, Second Chances and Once Upon a Kiss.

Regine was joined by Angelika de la Cruz, Joyce Ching and Kristoffer Martin, stars of the upcoming series Healing Hearts as they delivered outstanding performances before a delighted crowd.

Another set of Kapuso artists starred in back-to-back mall shows with the lead stars of the recently launched primetime series Second Chances—Jennylyn Mercado, Raymart Santiago, Camille Prats and Rafael Rosell—sharing the stage with the freshest love team of Miguel Tanfelix and Bianca Umali from the primetime series Once Upon a Kiss. Comedians Albert "Betong" Sumaya and Mike "Pekto" Nacua, who also star in the said series, added more fun to both shows.

Meanwhile, a delightful blend of feel-good shows and upbeat performances from GMA stars also spiced up this year's Dinagyang Festival in Iloilo, the so-called City of Love.

This time, Once Upon A Kiss stars Miguel, Bianca, Pekto, and Betong once again ventured outside Manila to personally touch base with fans and went around from one stop to another via the Dinagyang Festival Corporate Parade.

Kapuso home-grown talent Ruru Madrid, who was a guest performer at the Iloilo Festival Queen and Hiyas Sang Iloilo beauty pageant served up a musical treat, which was very well received by a large audience.

Real-life sweethearts Lovi Poe and Rocco Nacino set the stage on fire as they regaled SHOULDER injuries can be complex depending on the severity of the injury. I will only focus on the mild rotator cuff muscle strain. This condition can be preventable by following correct rehabilitation program.

One important thing about rehabilitation is educating yourself about your injury and how you can prevent it. Let's look at the anatomy of the shoulder and the location of the muscle that forms the rotator cuff group.

Rotator cuff consists of 4 muscle groups that inserts into the tip of your shoulder. These muscles are supraspinatus, infraspinatus, teres minor (all located at the back attach to your shoulder blades) and subscapularis (which is located on the front attach to the shoulder blade). These muscles form a muscle tendon that inserts posteriorly and anteriorly to the greater tuberosity (tip of the shoulder) where most of the pain is felt.

When you get diagnosed with a rotator cuff injury, it is in fact the muscle tendon being affected. The muscle tendon is the common region where it develops micro tearing. The muscles itself will also be affected causing it to be painful, sore and may become weak.

What causes rotator cuff strain?

- The most common causes of rotator cuff strain is over-use, heavy lifting, improper technique of lifting, pulling or specific sport skills.

- Sports: volleyball, swimming, baseball, football to name a few with repetitive stress during overhead motion of the shoulder joint

- Work: lifting and pulling with heavy resistance will cause rotator cuff muscle-tendon strain

- Falling and breaking the humerus bone can cause a severe tear of the rotator cuff muscle-tendon

Shoulder pain: SIMPLE rehabilitation and prevention for rotator cuff strain

Written by: Melanie Talastas-Soriano CAT(C)
Athletic Therapist, CFT Fitness Trainer

Simple steps you can take to rehabilitate and prevent future shoulder injuries.

1) See your doctor to rule out fractures and get imaging if necessary.

2) Seek help with musculo-skeletal specialist (ex. Athletic Therapist) and have your shoulder assessed correctly, be educated about your injury.

3) After you've been assessed, you will have in clinic treatment that can help you get started to rehabilitate.

4) You will receive a home program. This home program is crucial to your recovery. You need to understand why and how it will help you.

5) Here are two exercises that can help with your shoulder injury. Keep in mind that Individuals' condition vary and so these two exercises are general targeting muscle groups to help with recovery and prevention of the shoulder injury.

Thank you for taking the time to read our article. I hope that this will help you understand the process of getting help when you get injured. Please feel free to visit our website at www.insahyu.com or contact us at 204-999-0933 for athletic therapy consultation.

"Kung saan dinadala ng Filipino Community ang kanilang mga kaibigan"

Donaire returns

on March 28, takes on Brazilian

MANILA (Feb. 13) – Former featherweight champion Nonito Donaire Jr. will make his comeback on March 28 at the Mall of Asia Arena against William Prado of Brazil, a boxing website reported Thursday.

According to Dan Rafael of ESPN.com, Donaire (33-3, with 21 knockouts) is sliding down to super bantamweight (122 pounds), where he claims to be more comfortable.

“I’m excited to be back at 122 pounds,” said the Filipino-American fighter, who in his last outing was stopped by Nicholas Walters in six rounds to yield the WBA featherweight title last year in Carson, California.

Realizing that featherweight is too much for him, Donaire is moving back one division. At super bantamweight, he held the IBF and WBO crowns and was a dominant force in the weight class until he lost to Cuban Guillermo Rigondeaux in 2013.

Donaire now eyes to return to his explosive form, saying he’s already started working out.

“I’m hoping the training to be at 122 will bring me more speed and power. This camp has been different. I have been in training since December, so I’ve been in shape longer and working on more boxing instead of the usual eight weeks only of camp,” he explained.

Donaire will have a chance at redemption against the unheralded Prado, a 31-year-old boxer from Sao Paulo, Brazil with a record of 22-4-1, with 15 KOs. -Philstar

Analyst: Floyd not serious in superfight vs Pacquiao

MANILA (Feb. 13) – Despite his meetings with Manny Pacquiao, Floyd Mayweather Jr. is showing no real urgency in making the superfight.

At the most sensitive stage of talks for the mega bout, “Money” Mayweather was busy negotiating terms of his supposed public appearances in Australia, according to Yahoo! Sports’ Kevin Iole. “Mayweather was demanding an unlimited supply of gummy bears, M&M’s and Cristal Champagne, a barber available on demand, as well as a butler, chef, makeup artist, and a woman’s hairdresser in return for appearing at gala dinners in Sydney and Melbourne,” said Iole in his report.

Mayweather wasn’t able to travel to Australia after he was denied a visa because of his history of domestic violence.

But Iole said the fact remains that the boxer’s actions is indicative of his lack of desire to reach a deal with Pacquiao.

“So it sure doesn’t seem Mayweather feels any particular sense of urgency to get the fight done, despite his late-night trip to Pacquiao’s Miami hotel suite last month,” said the analyst, referring to the boxer’s face-to-face encounter with Pacquiao.

Review: Fifty Shades of dissatisfaction

Curious? The posters for "Fifty Shades of Grey" coyly ask.

Whether or not you're one of the 100 million who bought, and presumably read, E L James' kinky book, the buzz alone surrounding this "Twilight" fan fiction turned international phenomenon is enough to pique the interest of a rock. "Fifty Shades of Grey" is inherently spectacle.

With all that irresistible anticipation, how could a movie about BDSM be so run of the mill? The short answer: fear and money. It's one thing to read about the bondage-enabled sexual awakening of a virgin. It's quite another to see it depicted on screen.

Director Sam Taylor-Johnson had an impossible mission on her hands to meld the tawdry with the conventional. It's like trying to mash up the sensibilities of Lars von Trier with Nancy Meyers to create an end product that will be appealing on a mass scale. In trying to please everyone, though, "Fifty Shades of Grey" has stripped away the fun and settled on palatable. There have been perfume commercials with more depth and story arc.

For the uninitiated, "Fifty Shades of Grey" is about lit student Anastasia Steele (Dakota Johnson) and her torrid affair with 27-year-old billionaire Christian Grey (Jamie Dornan). They meet on a lark, when her aspiring journalist roommate gets ill and Anastasia agrees to help out by subbing in to interview the handsome mogul.

The two are made to look as mismatched as possible. She's a clumsy innocent with a childish ponytail in tights and a cardigan, he looks like he's just stepped out of an ad for bespoke suits and new money pretention. We're supposed to believe that sparks fly immediately, but this first meeting conjures up the dynamic of a predator and a scared feral animal more than anything else.

Still, something snaps in Christian and he decides he must have her as his own. He starts popping up everywhere, from the hardware store where she works to the college bar where she's had a bit too much to drink to save her from a handsy friend.

Soon he's whisking Ana (Ms. Steele as he calls her) away on his helicopter to a garish bachelor's pad/penthouse apartment, wooing her with white wine (but not too much, as he constantly reminds her), domineering gazes, and antiquated formalities. Laughable sexual innuendo peppers all their conversations.

But instead of the will-they-won't-they tension that even the silliest sitcom can pull off effectively, the unfortunate consequence is that the nearly 40 minutes that it takes for Christian and Ana to go under the sheets almost seem more gratuitous than anything that happens in the Red Room of Pain. Also, after the sex starts, so do the exhaustive and dull contract negotiations.

The chemistry between Johnson and Dornan is decent, even if they do seem to be acting in different movies. Dornan's Christian is a humorless caricature, while Johnson's Ana is actually quite likable, funny and strong-willed. In a film full of flaws, Johnson is an undeniable bright spot. manufactures some of the best buses in the world. In fact, I am told the company provides almost 50% of all new city buses in North America.

As my Leader and I toured the facility, we had the chance to not only witness and get a better understanding about how buses were being manufactured but also, we had the opportunity to engage with many of the employees.

The employees were more than happy to talk to us about their work and to explain how they feel about their job. Many photos were taken with the employees, and Mr. Trudeau seemed to really enjoy just being there, relating to people, and learning something new.

With over 1,300 employees, this company really contributes to our economy. Listening to Paul Soubry, President of New Flyer, we felt encouraged and confident about the future of these valuable jobs and that they were going to stay in Winnipeg.

As Canada's manufacturing jobs have decreased significantly over the years, there are certain sectors from within that have not only done well, but they have also expanded.

Mr. Trudeau has consistently said that we need to support Canada's middle class. I would suggest that one of the best ways we can do that is by working at protecting and growing our manufacturing industry.

I have had a number of plant tours over the past year and some of the issues that were raised to me include market access, government regulations, and the need for a trained available workforce.

We must remember that Canada is a trading nation and that we need to trade in order to prosper as a nation. I believe all MPs and economists would agree with me on that point.

For New Flyer Industries, the future is in making sure we have access to the North American market. We also need to note that real growth opportunities are in Asia -- there are industries here that would greatly benefit if we secured and expanded into those markets, too.

These are not easy issues and it will take time to address them. But we live in a country where our cultural diversity can be our greatest strength. Considering our natural resources and general wealth, we can accomplish a great deal as a nation.

Let me end by using an example. Back in November 2014, I wrote a story about Philippine Congressman Guanlao's visit to Winnipeg where we had some positive discussions about the future relationship between Canada and the Philippines.

We had the opportunity to visit a couple of businesses here in Winnipeg, including a tour of the Maple Leaf plant. He was so impressed with what he saw. I am not just talking about the processing of pigs but also the positive impact that the Filipino community here in Winnipeg was wielding on the pork industry.

In talks that I have had over the years with numerous politicians from the Philippines, there is real interest in building a stronger relationship with Canada. Whether it is my Leader (who knows how much I care about the Philippines), my caucus or the majority of MPs in Ottawa, we know and understand that stronger relationships with countries like the Philippines is the best way to secure Canada's manufacturing potential into the future. That means jobs!

Andi on Albie: I don't need him

MANILA – Andi Eigenmann said she is confused as to why Albie Casino suddenly broke his silence on speculations pointing to him as the father of the actress's daughter, Adrianna Gabrielle or Ellie, more than three years after Eigenmann gave birth.

Speaking exclusively to ABS-CBN News' Gretchen Fullido on Wednesday, Eigenmann said she does not understand where Casino is coming from considering she never asked anything from him since Ellie was born.

"Sa akin lang, I never really asked anything from him or made him act like a father or be one to my daughter regardless of the fact that he is the father of my daughter or not. I don't need him. He doesn't need to a part of our lives. We never asked anything from him so I don't understand why all of sudden, it's a big deal again," she said.

While she also wants "to get to the bottom of it," Eigenmann said: "I just wish he chose to do the more civil and educated thing to do which is to talk to me about it first instead of going on the news and use it as some sort of a promo or a ploy."

In his interview with ABS-CBN News' Mario Dumaual on Tuesday, Casino said he and Eigenmann have been civil for so long saying, "it's not doing any good to anyone to be mad at each other, so what's the point?" ABS-CBNnews.com

Regine Velasquez has no 'hard feelings'

towards Kris Aquino over unfollowing incident

Asia's Songbird Regine Velasquez clarified that she's carrying no grudge against Queen of All Media Kris Aquino following the unfollowing spree of the latter recently.

It may be recalled that Regine and husband Ogie Alcasid was among the bunch of stars that Kris unfollowed on Instagram following the backlash suffered by her brother, President Noynoy Aquino recently.

PNoy received criticisms due to his absence at the arrival honors for the Special Action Force (SAF) commandos who were killed in a clash at Mamasapano, Maguindanao last January 25.

"Hindi ako aware actually (about the issue). Not an issue. It's finished. She already apologized," Regine said at the recently-concluded press conference of the Ultimate concert at Luxent Hotel on Monday, February 9. She added, "I couldn't understand the whole thing. Kwinento lang sa akin ng asawa ko. Tapos na, nag-apologize naman din siya. Walang anything, walang samaan ng loob."

Kris via comment to her post admitted that she did unfollow the couple due to a misinterpretation.

The multi-awarded singer clarified that she still follows Kris on Instagram despite the incident.

Egypt." (Deuteronomy 7:7-8)

God is love, and His love is unconditional, constant, and perfect. You cannot influence God's love, because God is love.

Jesus did not go to the cross because of any love you had for Him or for any influence you placed on Him. The Bible says— "But God demonstrates His own love toward us, in that while we were still sinners, Christ died for us." (Romans 5:8) Jesus must have really loved you to do what He did for you, because, your sins put Him on the cross.

We look at some people: they have money, a good job, good health, live a good life and have a good family and marriage. We think, "God must really love them, look at how much He has blessed them!"

Or, we look at others: they have problems, are sick, poor, have lost their job, or are plagued with family or marital problems. We think, "God must not really love them, look at all the problems they have!"

Nonsense! Forget those thoughts. Circumstances have nothing to do with God's love. When everything seems to be going wrong, God still loves you. When everything seems to be going right, God still loves you.

If you want a gauge of God's love, a yardstick to measure His love, do not look at your circumstances, look at the cross! The Bible says— "The Lord has appeared to us in the past, saying: "Yes, I have loved you with an everlasting love; Therefore with loving-kindness I have drawn you." (Jeremiah 31:3)

What do we need to do to experience God's love? Nothing! Just receive it. Why? Because nothing can separate you from God's love.

Let God's Word be your assurance today: "Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? Shall trouble or hardship or persecution or famine or nakedness or danger or sword?.... No, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him who loved us." (Romans 8:35, 37) Enjoy your day. God loves you with an everlasting love!

The Popemobile: An 80-year HISTORY

SCV-1 through the years

FOR more than 80 years, Popes have ridden automobiles; specially prepared vehicles that have become the modern symbols of the Papacy whenever he visits another country.

A "popemobile" is actually an unofficial name for the vehicle that the Pope rides in; a customized vehicle used by the Pope during outdoor public appearances designed to make the Pontiff visible when going from place to place and meeting large crowds. With this, let's take a look at some of the popemobiles from the past and see the evolution of "popemobility".

Every single popemobile has a license plate that reads "SCV-1" or status civitatis vaticanae, Latin for State of Vatican City. The number 1 also indicates that it refers to the pontifex maximus. Before the popemobiles came into service, the Vatican made use of the sedia gestatoria or a ceremonial throne that carries the Popes to and from the Papal ceremonies.

It was not until 1930 when popemobiles came into existence. During that time, Pope Pius XI received a Mercedes-Benz Nürburg 460 as a gift from Daimler Benz AG, marking the start of the popemobile era. It features a central rear-mounted throne and custom interior with silk carpets.

Thirty years after, the successor of the Mercedes-Benz Nürburg 460 took on the role of transporting the Pope. Mercedes-Benz has once again provided the Vatican with a 300D Landulet featuring a hard top up front and soft top in the rear, allowing the Pope to be seen by the public. The vehicle has a single seat configuration in the rear along with a two-way radio and air conditioning.

In 1964, the Vatican requested Ford Motor Company to build a popemobile for Pope Paul VI's visit to New York. The American company customized a Lincoln Continental based on the Lehmann-Peterson's prototype. It features the usual throne seat in the rear that can elevate up to 12-inches.

A year after that, Mercedes-Benz built another popemobile: the Landulet version of the Mercedes-Benz 600. The car was delivered to Pope Paul VI and features a huge folding top and rear doors. Clearly, the design trend of the popemobile was to make the Pope as exposed to the faithful as possible.

In 1966 Mercedes-Benz donated another popemobile to the Vatican: the 300 SEL Landulet. The car is basically the same with the previous popemobiles built by the German automaker and maintains the open top design. Inside, the seat is equipped with a sliding mechanism that allowed the Pope to slide to the side, making room for a Papal aide.

When Karol Józef Wojtyła became Pope John Paul II, the world saw one of the few non-Mercedes popemobile as he visited his hometown in Poland. In 1979, Pope John Paul II opted to use a Polish-built industrial truck from FCS Star. It was developed by the truck manufacturer with the guidance of Pope John Paul II himself.

During the same year, Pope John Paul II visited Ireland onboard a Ford Transit popemobile. The design of this popemobile resembles the look of the FCS Star used by the Pope when he visited Poland. It has a huge interior cabin enclosed with large windows.

In 1980, Mercedes-Benz provided Pope John Paul II with a customized G230 during his visit to Germany. This car would later on be the benchmark for future designs of the popemobiles. It has an enclosed transparent box-like cabin that is elevated, allowing the public to fully see the Pope.

During his Papacy, Pope John Paul II travelled a lot. In 1981, he visited France and rode a Peugeot 504 that features similar styling cues to the Mercedes-Benz G230. It also has an enclosed transparent box-like cabin fitted with a plastic cupola to protect the Pope.

Also in the same year, the Pope rode on the first 'jeepney' popemobile built by Sarao Motors.

In 1982, Pope John Paul II visited England and rode the first ever bulletproof popemobile from Land Rover. The exterior styling of this popemobile is also similar with the Mercedes-Benz G230 and the Peugeot 504.

Subsequently, Pope John Paul II also visited Scotland in 1982. A customized Leyland Truck was the Pope's ride during his Papal Visit. It was regarded as the most massive popemobile to be built at 24 tons.

Piolo Pascual says he is now friends with KC Concepcion

Piolo Pascual is letting bygones be bygones and stressed that he is now open to work with former flame KC Concepcion. Despite the controversy that surrounded their break-up three years ago, Piolo is putting the past behind and revealed that he is now on good terms with KC.

“We’re okay, we’re okay ni Kristina (KC), wala kaming issues. Yeah okay na. Oh yeah [I want to work with her] napakaliit ng mundo natin para pasikipin,” he said in an interview at the launching of ABS-CBN TV Plus.

KC got to bond with Piolo’s personal assistant recently and the actor explained that Moi Bien has always been friends with KC and her supporters. “Kasi our fans are still friends naman eh her fans and my fans, love team eh, kumbaga they support me and the support her and some of them are Moi’s friends, so ‘yun,” Piolo said.

It is another hectic year for the actor as he is now gearing up for pitching sessions of his upcoming movie and TV projects. “Next week may pitching ng movie and TV pero hopefully ‘yung original na pinlano sa Star (Cinema) matuloy na,” he shared. Piolo hopes that his movie with Sarah Geronimo will push through despite the set backs. “It’s not for me to say but I’m just waiting, I’m really excited to work with her. I hope we will get to compromise and then we’ll see. I cannot disclose the details yet hanggang hindi pa nagsisimula pero sana ‘yon na ‘yun,” he said.

Piolo also just got back from a brief hiatus because of the injury he suffered from a minor bike accident during a commercial shoot. “I was doing my last few shots kaso medyo ma-terrain siya. I was in the shoot, 5 o’clock na at naghahabol kami ng oras pero for some reason there was a light cable na nakaharang sa daan, compound naman siya eh tinry ko siyang tawarin pero pagtawid ko sumemplang na ‘yung bike,” he shared. -push.abs-cbn.com/

Troy Montero admits he wants more babies with Aubrey Miles

Last seen in a guest role in the Kapamilya series Kailangan Ko’y Ikaw in 2013, Troy Montero admits he is happy to focus on his other passions now as well as doing some acting every once in a while. During the Nivea Men Diskarte Challenge event held last February 6 at the Trinoma Activity Center, Troy talks about his six-year-old production company.

“With acting I’m okay with maybe a little bit here and there but I’m still really having fun running the company and doing everything behind the scenes. Right now I’m still guesting and joining fun events like this. But as of now my production company “We Love Post” is in pre-prod for the next two weeks so it’s going to be our first end-to-end movie. Directed and produced all in one so we’re very excited to be starting and probably shooting in the next couple of weeks. Basically we do post-production for mostly all TV commercials but then a few years ago we started doing post-production for Asiong Salonga: Manila Kingpin and El Presidente so we’re very lucky. Now we’re doing our own (movie),” he shares.

After shuttling back and forth from the states, Troy says he is making Manila his home base for now.

“My office is near Makati so we did our full production just recently. It’s a French movie so the entire cast was French. They shot everything in Manila and it’s an action-thriller. That’s in post-production now and it should be done this month,” he says.

The 37-year-old former model also admits that his son Hunter is also studying in a local school. “Yes he’s enrolled here. Our bonding moments is easy, it’s anything where we can be together, kahit traveling, in the mall, playing sports. We do travel a lot. My kids love to travel and we’re very lucky to be able to take them around,” he adds.

With a 12-year relationship with Aubrey Miles, Troy says the secret to their partnership is simple.

“It’s great communication, we’re always laughing and having fun. Of course we love working out and watching what we eat and less stress, we’re just trying to have a good time. My tips for guys is just be as sweet as you can, everything from the heart, treat her right, take her out, you don’t have to spend a lot, just plan everything and show her a good time as much as you can, that’s it,” he says.

The Power of Food

By Gemma Dalayoan

The Community Food Centre on 103-61 Tyndall Avenue run by the Nor-West Co-op in partnership with the Community Food Centre Canada formally opened last Friday, February 6, 2015 with some 100 guests enjoying the free lunch food served by around 20 volunteers, among them some newly-arrived Filipinos. They were: Violeta Nabong, Nerissa Abrajena, Ann Pavia, Emy Galimba, and Emily Galimba.

Abby Legaspi, the Cooking and Food Skills Programmer, who also teaches Filipino Family Cooking Group and Make and Take and Learn to cook different meals, and in-charge of Living Well with Diabetes Cooking Group, was busy circulating and entertaining guests along with other head personnel.

The Food Centre is open to everyone, and it will have its Grand Opening on March 13 at 11 a.m. The Centre aims to "increase access to healthy food by bringing people to grow, cook, share, and advocate good food for all." Its vision is also "to share, learn, contribute, help others and start the process of creating change in the lives of people all through the power of food."

The Community Food Centre has other programs aside from serving free breakfast, lunch, and cooking.

To access and know more of these programs, call 204-795-5921. In fact, the Norwest Co-op has also primary health services, some of which are housed at the Access Centre on 795 Keewatin Street at the back of PCCM. Please contact 204-936-5900 for further information and inquiries. The Norwest Co-op is run by a Board currently chaired by Ivan Sawaski.

Sun Life Financial FC15 Recognition Night honors Tess Newton

TESS NEWTON and daughter Jennifer Newton with staff Aireen Villaver, Leah Dongallo and Flor Olayan.

Once again, Tess Newton has been awarded the Advisor of the Year for 2014 by Sun Life Financial Manitoba West Financial Centre. The Sun Life Financial - Manitoba West Financial Center 15 held its Annual Recognition Night on January 16, 2015 at the Canadian Museum for Human Rights, honoring the top achievers for 2014. This is the 5th time Ms. Newton has won the top Advisor award besting 35 other advisors in the Winnipeg Financial Centre. In addition, Ms. Newton also qualified as a member of the Elite Partner Program of Sun Life Financial, for five years in a row this year. The Elite Partner Program is the prestigious program of Sun Life Financial exclusively for those distinguished group of achievers who deserve to be celebrated and supported. Ms. Newton was also honored and awarded for 2014 Pride and Excellence Award. Her community outreach exemplified the award as she held a fundraiser drive during the Silver Shoe Gala Dinner when she celebrated her 25th year anniversary with Sun Life Financial.

RRSPs are a type of savings that can help you accumulate wealth for retirement.

The contributions you make can reduce your taxes + Your money is sheltered from tax while it grows

= RRSPs are a powerful tool for saving
